Read the story given below and answer the questions that follow.

An old man, who lived in the city, had to put up with the nuisance of having boys play cricket in the street outside his house. The boys played under the streetlights at night. One evening, when the boys were particularly noisy, he could not sleep. So he went out to talk to them. He explained that he was very happy whenever he could see or hear boys playing his favourite game, cricket. He said he would give them Rs 25 each week to play on the street at night. The boys were thrilled.

They were being paid to do something they enjoyed! At the end of the first week, they knocked at the old man's house and asked to be paid. He did so. The second week, when they asked for payment, he said he had run out of money and sent them away with only Rs 15. The boys were very disappointed, but there was not much they could do about it. The fourth week, the man said he could not afford to pay them Rs 25 as he had promised but would give them Rs 5 each week without fail. This payment was too little for the boys.

"You expect us to play seven days a week for a measly Rs 5!" they yelled. The boys then stormed away and never played on the street again.
