Comprehension:

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follows:

Under the labour theory of value, the value or price of a commodity depends exclusively on the amount of labour going into the production of the commodity. This implies that either labour is the only factor of production or labour is used in the same fixed proportion in the production of all commodities and that labour is homogeneous, i.e. of only one type. Since neither of these assumptions is true, we cannot base the explanation of comparative advantage on the labour theory of values specifically, labour is not the only factor of production, nor is it used in the same fixed proportion in the production of all commodities. For example, much more capital equipment per worker is required to produce some products, such as steel, than to produce other products such as textile. In addition, there is usually some possibility of substitution between labour, capital and other factors in the production of most commodities. Further more, labour is obviously homogeneous but varies greatly in training, productivity and wages. At the very least, we should allow for different productivities of labour. Indeed, this is how the Ricardian theory of comparative advantage has been tested empirically. In any event, the theory of comparative advantage need not be based on the labour theory of value but can be explained on the basis of the opportunity cost theory which is acceptable. To be noted is that Ricardo himself did not believe in the labour theory of value and used it only as a simple way to explain the law of comparative advantage. The law of comparative advantage is sometimes referred to as the law of comparative cost.

Read the given passage carefully and answer the following questions that follow :

The Indian Economy in recent past, especially after 1980's has undergone many kinds of changes. Accordingly, a new pattern of fiscal federalism has emerged in order to meet the new situations/conditions resulting out of the economic transformations. The Finance Commission, as an instrument for distribution of financial resources between the federal constituents, dealt with the economic imbalances resulting out of economic changes. Besides, the Finance Commission, other institutions like NITI Aayog, as a Think Tank and various ministries are playing significant role to maintain just fiscal federalism. Further, with the implementation of 73rd and 74th constitutional amendments, governments at local levels are empowered with the devolution of funds and functions. Also, GST council is created to ensure uniform tax structure which is likely to strengthen the existing fiscal federalism.

Historically, the district in some form or the other has been the most important unit of administration in the Indian Sub-continent. The British Parliament – was the first legislature in respect of India in modern times and enactments created and gave substance to the district head of administration, known normally as the collector, the district magistrate or the deputy commissioner. In the post independence era, when the economy diversified, and the pace of industrialisation and growth of tertiary activities picked up, other functionaries too gained in importance. But, even now, in most parts of the country, excepting metropolitan/mega cities, the collector is the most recognized face of administration, he is considered to be the principal representative of the government at the district level, who could be approached to solve all problems ranging from land disputes.... and even to issues of family disorders. Though, as per the new administrative and development environment, PRIs/ULBs are the third tier of governments they do not totally remove the collector's responsibility in matters of local development. The collector still continues to be responsible for a multiplicity of tasks at the district level such as improving human capabilities, creating physical infrastructure, imposing economic opportunities for marginalized sections of society and facing challenges posed by disasters.
